Sisters can help you

climb a tree,

push you on a swing,

and share a delicious snack.

Sisters can teach you
how to swim,

do a puzzle with you,

and let you win at tic-tac-toe.

Sisters can teach you their favorite sport,

start a game of tag,

and show you how
to make a plane.

Sisters can make
music with you,

play pretend,

and help you
build with clay.

Sisters can help you
clean your room,

take you to the library,

and be there when you need them.

But best of all,
sisters can give you
lots and lots of love!

Sisters can do lots of things, like teach you how to swim, start a game of tag, and be there when you need them. But what do they do best? The answer is made perfectly clear in this irresistible celebration of siblings and the everyday things they do.
